2. What is personal information?

Personal information includes any information or opinion, about an identified individual or an individual who can be reasonably identified from that information. The information or opinion will still be personal information whether it is true or not and regardless of whether we have kept a record of it.

Some examples of personal information may include your:

- (a) name;
- (b) date of birth;
- (c) citizenship;
- (d) mailing or residential address details, the length of time at your current address;
- (e) contact details such as telephone numbers, email address, social media platform username (if you contact us through social media platforms);
- (f) occupation and place of work;
- (g) government issued identifiers such as Tax File Number, Medicare number or Driver's License number;

- (h) bank account and credit card details;
- (i) your employment details and proof of earnings and expenses;
- (j) if you are applying for credit we may also collect the ages and number of your dependants and cohabitants;
- (k) credit history, credit capacity, ability to be provided with credit or credit worthiness (Credit Information);
- (l) signature, photograph, video or audio recording; and
- (m) in limited circumstances sensitive information such as information relating to your health, biometric data, criminal history, racial or ethnic origin.

Credit Information is information which we use to assess your eligibility to be provided with credit and may include any credit that you have outstanding, your repayment history and any defaults. Usually, Credit Information is exchanged between credit and credit providers and credit reporting bodies. We may use credit eligibility information being credit reporting information supplied to us by a credit reporting body, and any information that we derive from it to make decisions regarding your eligibility for credit.

3. How is Sensitive information handled?

We generally do not collect 'sensitive information' as defined under the Privacy Laws and we further restrict collection of such sensitive information unless it is necessary for us to provide our Services to you and where we have either obtained your express consent or a permitted general situation exists. For example, we may collect health information about you to assess certain claims, including hardship, or we may collect voice biometric information to verify your identity or authorise transactions.

Sensitive information is personal information that includes information relating to your racial or ethnic origin, criminal history, sexual orientation, membership of any trade or professional associations.

4. Wish to stay Anonymous!

You can withhold your personal information when speaking with us if you are making a general enquiry. However, if you wish for us to provide you with our Services, we will need to identify you.

5. Why we collect your personal information

Any personal information that we collect is first obtained through either notice or consent and the other legal basis for the processing of your personal information is either for:

- (a) the performance of a contract between you and us and/or taking steps, at your request, to enter into such a contract;
- (b) you are posting any comments or direct messages on social media sites;
- (c) our legitimate interests, namely:
  - (i) to comply with our legal and regulatory obligations;
  - (ii) the proper administration of our website and business;
  - (iii) monitoring and improving our website and Services;
  - (iv) the proper management of our customer relationships;
  - (v) communications with users;
  - (vi) the protection and assertion of our legal rights, your legal rights and the legal rights of others (as applicable);
  - (vii) the proper protection of our business against risks; and
  - (viii) for any other purpose permitted by law.

We collect personal information for the purposes of either working with you or your customers in assessing an application and eligibility for credit, managing that credit, identifying you and to comply with our legal obligations. We may also collect your personal information for the purposes of direct marketing and managing our relationship with you. From time to time we may offer you other Services.

6. How information is collected

Most information will be collected from you personally, this can be taken by us:

- (a) if you call or email us;
- (b) when we provide our Services to you;
- (c) when we manage our customer relationships and service provider relationships;
- (d) from credit reporting bodies and from mortgage brokers, mortgage managers, your representatives and other people such as accountants and lawyers;
- (e) if you provide us with feedback or make a complaint;
- (f) if we provide you with our Services;
- (g) if you apply for an account with us;
- (h) when CCTV footage is recorded at our offices or premises;
- (i) your information that is in the public domain;
- (j) if you subscribe to our newsletters and marketing lists; and
- (k) other information that may be collected include details provided on a resume sent to us relating to an employment opportunity.

We may obtain your credit related personal information:

- (a) When making an application or negotiating with a lender on your behalf.
- (b) From a Credit Reporting Body (“CRB”) when we have obtained your credit report with your consent.
- (c) We may also receive your personal information from another party by any other means. If we do, we will apply the Privacy Laws in deciding whether it is lawful to keep the information received.
- (d) We may also receive your personal information from third parties that we deal with on your behalf including brokers and mortgage managers and from our other service providers.
- (e) Any information we receive that we are not lawfully required to hold will be deleted or destroyed.

7. How we use your personal information

The main reason we collect, use, hold and disclose personal information is to provide you with products and Services (including where applicable, third party products and services) and to help us run our business. This includes:

- (a) confirming your identity;
- (b) checking whether you are eligible for our products or services;

13. Your Rights in Relation to CRBs

You may be asked to participate in a “pre-screening”. This is where your credit related information is provided to a CRB to use, to provide marketing relating to your credit related circumstances. You have the right to contact the CRB and ask that you be excluded from this process.

If you have been or have a reasonable belief that you are likely to be a victim of fraud, you can contact the CRB and request for a “ban-period”. For a period of 21 days after the credit reporting body receives your notification the credit reporting body must not use or disclose that credit information. The CRB will not be permitted to use your personal or credit related information during this time.

14. Notifiable matters

From February 2018, the Privacy Act includes a new Notifiable Data Breaches scheme (NDB) which requires us to notify you and the Office of the Australian Information Commissioner (OAIC) of certain data breaches and recommend steps you can take to limit the impacts of a breach (for example, a password change).

The NDB scheme requires us to notify about a data breach that is likely to result in serious harm to affected individuals. There are exceptions where notification is not required. For example, where we have already taken appropriate remedial action that removes the risk of serious harm to any individuals.

If we believe there has been a data breach that impacts your personal information and creates a likely risk of serious harm, we will notify you and the OAIC as soon as possible and keep in close contact with you about the nature of the breach, the steps we are taking and what you can do to reduce the impacts to your privacy.

If you believe that any personal information, we hold about you has been impacted by a data breach, you can contact us using the contact details below.

15. Updating your personal information

It is important to us that the personal information we hold about you is accurate and up to date. During the course of our relationship with you, we may ask you to inform us if any of your personal information has changed.

If you wish to make any changes to your personal information, you may contact us. We will generally rely on you to ensure the information we hold about you is accurate or complete.

16. Your Privacy Rights

In this section 16, we have summarised the rights that you have under the Privacy Laws. Some of the rights are complex, and not all of the details have been included in our summaries. Accordingly, you should read the relevant laws and guidance from the regulatory authorities for a full explanation of these rights.

The summary of your principal rights under Privacy Laws are:

- (a) to request, at any time, for us to inform you of the personal information we hold about you;
- (b) the right to access your personal information and we will respond to you within 30 days of making a request;
- (c) the right to rectification of your personal information;
- (d) the right to erasure (where we have no legitimate right or business requirements to retain your personal information);
- (e) the right to restrict or object to processing (where we have no legitimate right or business requirements to process your personal information);
- (f) the right to complain to a supervisory authority; and
- (g) the right to withdraw your consent (where we have no legitimate right or business requirements to retain or process your personal information).

We may refuse to give you access to personal information we hold about you if we reasonably believe that giving access would pose a serious threat to the life, health or safety of an individual, or to the public health or safety, where giving access would be unlawful, where giving access would have an unreasonable impact on the privacy of other individuals, if there are legal proceedings, or if we consider the request to be frivolous or vexatious.

If we refuse to give you access to or to correct your personal information, we will give you a notice explaining our reasons except where it would be unreasonable to do so.

17. How safe and secure is your personal information that we hold?

We will take reasonable steps to protect your personal information by storing it in a secure environment. We may store your personal information in paper and electronic form. We will also take reasonable steps to protect any personal information from misuse, loss and unauthorised access, modification or disclosure.

If we are no longer required or wish to keep your personal information for the purpose it was collected, we will securely destroy it or remove all identity features from the information unless we are legally required to keep it for a period of 7 years after an account is closed.

18. Complaints Handling

Contact Us

You may exercise any of your rights in relation to your personal information by contacting us. If you have a question or complaint about how your personal information is being handled by the Columbus Capital Group, our affiliates or contracted service providers, please contact us first on the following email: service@originmms.com.au.

We will try to have your complaint resolved within 5 business days, but it may take longer depending on the complaint. If this is the case, we will aim to resolve your complaint within 30 days.
